

European Union Studies Association of Asia-Pacific 2015 Annual Conference

Double Theme

Is the EU Still a Model for Asia-Pacific Regional Integration?
The EU as a Development Actor and Possibilities for Cooperation

11 + 12 June 2015

Seoul, Korea

Invitation

The EU model of integration is regarded as the most substantial example of a law-based form of integration internationally. However, the extent to which the European experience remains instructive for Asian Pacific Regionalism has been more contentious in the context of the Sovereign Debt and the Eurozone crisis. In addition, 2015 is the deadline for the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) and has been designated as the Year of Development by the EU. With the increasing involvement of other development actors globally, it is opportune to reflect upon the EU's development record as well as consider innovative options for crafting new development partnerships regionally and globally.

In this context, the Korea Institute for International Economic Policy (KIEP) and the EU Studies Association of Asia Pacific (EUSA-AP) have come up with an idea to host an international conference under the two titles "Is the EU Still a Model for Asia-Pacific Regional Integration?" and "The EU as a Development Actor and Possibilities for Cooperation." Prominent scholars and policy-makers from all over the world are invited to present their thoughts at this event.

We would like to cordially invite you all to this timely and important conference.
